

Abstract

Disclosed are methods and tools for the concentration and detection as well as quantification of pathological prion proteins as well as agents to be used in said detection and/or in the prevention or treatment of prion diseases. Said agents are factors with prion binding activities found in blood serum and blood plasma.

20240241.042301